Meet Julie

Julie made her way to Athens in 1995 to attend the University of Georgia. A first-generation college student, she had no idea what college would be like or what she wanted to study, but she quickly fell in love with the Classic City. She decided to major in French Education—yes, French Education. You might not expect Julie’s French expertise to help her sell houses in a town that mostly speaks Southern, but think again. Julie’s unique talents mean she can say things like, “Oooh la la! This patio would look perfect with a chaise lounge” in a flawless accent. But Julie didn’t become a realtor with a fabulous French accent right away. First, she became a diehard Bulldog fan and met the love of her life, Joe (also a diehard Bulldog fan). They married right after graduation and decided to make Athens their forever home. They have spent two happy (and busy!) decades here building businesses and raising a family of three wonderful children. They still love to travel to see the Dawgs play all over the nation.

Before entering into the real estate world, Julie worked as a professional photographer and as an organizing consultant. Since three kids, two jobs, and a husband weren’t keeping her busy enough, Julie decided to become a Realtor! Real estate brings together all the things Julie loves most in one fulfilling career: She gets to spend time with people, serve the community she loves, and help families turn houses into homes. Julie often uses her experience as a photographer and organizing consultant to support her real estate work, using her eye for staging and organization to help families envision the ways new spaces could work for their lifestyles.

Julie is committed to great customer service, knowing the local market, and educating her clients throughout the entire buying and selling process. Julie offers her clients detailed knowledge of the Athens area, a unique digital savvy, attention to detail, and an always-connected communication style. But she also offers her clients a meaningful personal connection. You can’t go anywhere in Athens with Julie without greeting a dozen people she knows. Julie looks forward to counting those she works with not only as clients but also as friends. Contact Julie for all your real estate needs. Or as Julie likes to say, “Appellez-moi aujourd’hui s’il vous plaît.”

My Clients Say It Best

Julie Moon is a GEM of a real estate agent (and overall person)! She found us the most perfect home in our desired, Oconee County location; Julie made the whole home-buying process a BREEZE! She is incredibly professional, honest and hard working. She very kindly took the reins over the entire process when the seller’s agent had some health issues.

I cannot recommend Julie enough. I wasn’t looking forward to the whole home-buying process given this crazy market but she made it enjoyable and helped us find our home in the first week of our search. I honestly wish my husband and I could work with her again soon but she did such a wonderful job finding our dream home that I don’t think we’ll be moving any time soon! I’ve already recommended her to everyone I’ve discussed our home buying process with and will continue to do so!

live who you are

At Corcoran Classic Living we know that it's never just a house or an apartment.
It's where you live... and it's who you are.

Live who you are. Four simple words that mean so much. To our clients, it means "Imagine the best version of who you are... and now imagine home." But, "Live who you are" also says something about us. It says "We care enough to ask a little more, to dig a little deeper, to listen a little better. We care enough to use all that we learn to find you precisely the right home.

"Live who you are" says that we have the craft and resources to make a home yours once you find it. It says we are experts and consultants and professionals of the highest order. It says "take a journey with a trusted friend." And most of all it says our mission goes beyond selling.
